Bottles with dried flowers

Instructions No. 2236

Difficulty: Beginner

Working time: 2 Hours

A beautiful trendy decoration with dried flowers for your home. It is easy to copy and makes a great eye-catcher on a windowsill or chest of drawers.

This is how the bottles are made:

Make three small bouquets from the dried flowers.

Poke a small hole in the bottom of the cork with an awl and glue a bouquet in each with a little hot glue.

Carefully insert the bouquets into the bottles.

Cut 2 cm wide strips from the kraft paper. Tie small bows from the jute cord and attach them to the paper strip with the sealing wax. To do this, place the bow on the strip, let the wax drip onto it and then quickly press the back of a marker with a metal sleeve or a sealing plate into the still liquid wax. Allow to cool briefly and then remove the marker/sealing plate.

Cut the paper strips to the desired length and attach them to the cork and bottle with hot glue.
