Lucky mushrooms made by yourself

Instructions No. 1393

Difficulty: Beginner

Working time: 30 Minutes

Toadstools are considered lucky charms and are therefore always a beautiful decoration. Especially in autumn the self-made decoration objects are a very pretty eye-catcher.

Tinkering with luck is very easy!

Prepare the base plate

First the decorative sign, which serves as a stand plate for the decoration, is painted in moss green. -As soon as the plate is dry, a suitable piece of dry plugging compound is attached to it with hot glue and covered with plate moss. -Now you can decorate the base plate by pulling a check ribbon through the holes and tying it into a bow.

Paint mushroom hats

The polystyrene bells are primed with red paint on the outside and beige paint on the inside. Next, the white dots of the mushrooms are painted on the dried paint and after drying, they are painted with fine Structure Paste .

The mushrooms get that special something by finishing the contours and edges with black, setting shadows.

Tinker mushroom stems

Figure wire is cut into pieces of unequal length. For the large mushrooms, glue two wires together with hot glue and pull the wide Knitted tube over them. For the small mushrooms it is sufficient to use a single wire which is pushed into the narrow Knitted tube

With hot glue the figure wire is fixed in the bells and put into the moss bed, while decoratively bent into shape.

Modelling fun for young and old: shaping mushrooms

Autumnal mushrooms are a great project for all those who want to make their first attempts at modelling. The mushrooms succeed with air-drying Modelling clay. After drying, they are simply painted with beige, red and white Handicraft paint .
