The Easter period offers the perfect opportunity to get creative and experience wonderful moments together. With our rabbit plug craft set, you can create magical plug-in decorations for flowers, plants or Easter arrangements in no time at all. Crafting is fun, stimulates the imagination and creates lasting memories.

To create the bunny pins, you will also need scissors, hot glue, a pencil or sublimat pen (this disappears after a while so that the painted lines are no longer visible after cutting them out), a thin black pen, a needle and a side cutter.

This is how the bunnies are made:

Start by cutting out the template for the bunny's body and ears. Place them on any color of the dot paper and outline them with the pen. It is best to transfer the template to the white side of the paper so that the lines remain invisible later. Then cut out the shapes.

Apply some glue to the two straight short sides of the bunny's body and glue them together to create a cone shape. Make sure that a small opening is left at the top where the papers meet so that the stick can be inserted later.

For the arms, cut a piece of wire about 11 cm long with the side cutters. Use the needle to pierce two small holes opposite each other in the Paper at the top of the body and pull the wire through. Attach the beads to the ends of the wire with a little hot glue.

Then use the thin black pencil to draw a rabbit's face on the wooden disc. Alternatively, you can also use wobbly eyes or paint one eye and attach the other as a wiggly eye.

Now decide whether your bunny should have Paper- or wire ears. For wire ears, cut two 6 cm pieces of wire and bend them slightly in the middle to create the top of the ear. Then twist the two ends of the wire together by about 2 cm to fix the shape. Glue the ears to the back of the head with hot glue.
